

---

Strategic allocation of scarce (human, technological, fiscal, temporal, etc.) resources represents the most typical approach to action